Bloomfield, N.J. — The Bloomfield Police Department is proud to announce that it has achieved reaccreditation status from the New Jersey State Association of Chiefs of Police. This honor demonstrates that the department continues to meet the high standards set by the association.

The reaccreditation process involved a comprehensive review of the department's policies and practices, as well as an on-site assessment to ensure full compliance. This marks the department's third reaccreditation, a significant milestone in its ongoing commitment to excellence in law enforcement.

"I would like to commend all of the members of the Bloomfield Police Department. This is a great achievement that required the hard work of all our officers in ensuring that the highest standards are met. I would also like to acknowledge the department's accreditation team, who worked diligently to ensure compliance with the required standards. This is a proud moment for our department."
